- Aries Stellium calling for inspired action led by gut instinct
- New Moon conjunct Chiron and Eris inviting us to plant new seeds through healing our stories around our sense of self and welcoming back disowned aspects of self into our self-expression
- Uranus at the anaretic degree of Taurus preparing to move into Gemini on April 25th which will catalyze fast moving change including new possibilities and opportunities-get ready to leap!

Aries Stellium:

Rewilding Back to Gut Instinct

- Fertile with raw, primal life force energy to create with
- Getting us back in touch with our primal, instinctual nature
- Taking action without the old stories, self-doubt, hesitation
- Big and intense emotions fueling creative action
- Reclaiming your self-trust in your instincts to guide you down the right path and to take decisive action when the moment is right even if you don't have the full picture of what you are creating

This Aries stellium calls us to throw our roadmaps to the wind of what we've previously done and what we've previously known to work for us...

...and to allow our gut instinct to lead us.

Clarity on the right actions to take at the right moment

The Aries stellium is an energy of GO!

You will feel the impulse to take action!

Aries energy has to move!

Without an outlet for that energy, you may feel antsy, restless, or anxious as the energy builds up within you.

Be intentional with moving the energy.

Move your body.

Channel it towards a creative outlet.

Aries initiates us to feel into the energy and take inspired action when the moment is right.

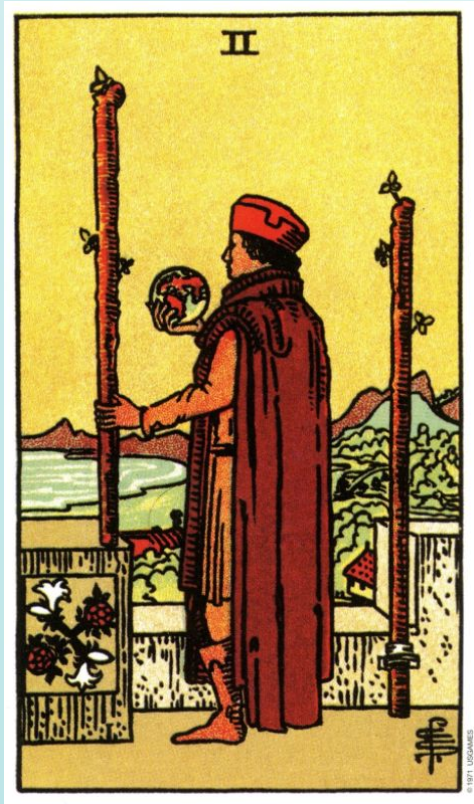

The right moment is not something we can pre-plan or fully predict.

It is our relationship with our gut instinct that determines whether we take intuitive action at the right moment or impulsive action before the moment is aligned (stepping on the gas pedal too early).

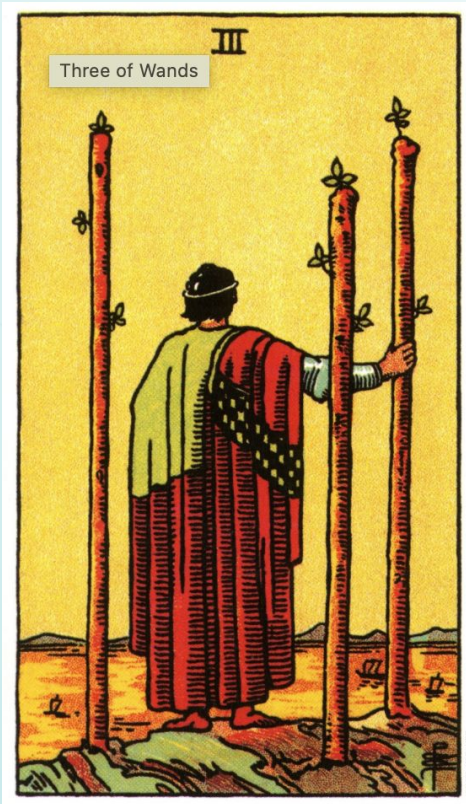

Instinctual intuition and impulsivity are two sides of the same Aries coin.

Self-trust, a regulated nervous system, and body awareness facilitate moving from impulsive to intuitive action.

Chiron's Role in the Aries New Moon

The Wise Centaur Guiding You To A New Story Around Your Sense of Self

- Chiron is known as the “Wounded Healer” and astrologically represents alchemizing our wounds into sacred medicine to share with others
- In mythology, Chiron was a Centaur, half-horse and half-human, who was born from his mother, Philyra, and his father, Cronus (Saturn)
- Cronus turned himself into a stallion at the time of Chiron's conception
- Philyra was ashamed that she gave birth to who she thought was a “monster” and abandoned him at birth
 - The initial Chiron wound of abandonment and shame around sense of self
- Chiron was left in the wild at Mt. Pelion and was raised by Apollo and Artemis
- From Apollo, Chiron learned healing arts, botany, music, prophecy, and divination
- From Artemis, Chiron learned archery and hunting
- Chiron became a master healer in many forms of healing including astrology, herbalism, surgery, poetry, music, and more
- Chiron became the most sought out teacher and mentored Asclepius, Achilles, Hercules, Jason, and more
- Chiron was accidentally struck by Hercules' poison arrow (2nd wound), and because he was immortal, he was stuck in agonizing pain until he gave up his immortality to free Prometheus of his suffering and was immortalized in the stars

Chiron's Role in the Aries New Moon

The Wise Centaur Guiding You To A New Story Around Your Sense of Self

- Chiron was discovered in 1977
- The first of a new class of celestial bodies called Centaurs
- Chiron's planetary classification has been re-identified multiple times
 - An asteroid, minor planet, a dwarf, planet, a comet, a Centaur
- It takes Chiron 50 years to go around the zodiac
- Chiron has an eccentric orbit that moves between the orbits of Saturn and Uranus
 - The bridge between our seen and unseen planets
- Chiron has been in Aries since 2018/19 and is currently transiting through the last degrees of Aries
- Chiron will go into Taurus on June 19th, will retrograde back into Aries on September 17th, and will go back into Taurus on April 14th of 2027

Chiron's Role in the Aries New Moon

The Chiron Healing Journey

- We all have Chiron placed somewhere in our natal chart which points to a deeply painful experience in our lives that's left an imprint (ie. the wound) and offers insight into a sacred journey of alchemizing our pain into sacred medicine
- We often feel a sense of shame around the wound, and at the deepest level it brings up stories around abandonment, rejection, and not belonging
- We often have stories that we need to heal the wound itself or make this aspect of ourselves go away to feel whole, worthy, or loveable
- So we go on a journey actively trying to heal the wound
- We experience healing in many senses, gain wisdom, and learn and self-master healing modalities to share with others
- But there's a point where we come full circle and realize that the wound we set out to heal, still exists within us

The Wise Centaur Guiding You To A New Story Around Your Sense of Self

The Chiron Healing Journey

- The true Chiron healing alchemy occurs when we realize that there is nothing to heal other than our stories around our wound
- We do not need to erase the wound from our lives or heal it away to be worthy, whole, and complete
- Our unique journey is what makes us exquisitely human
- Embracing our humanness and our vulnerability becomes a healing salve that invites in compassion, connection, and understanding
- The Chiron journey is a journey of de-arming the protective layers we've placed around our hearts as we've gone through our lives that was initially adaptive but has ended up closing off our hearts
- Chiron is a journey of heart-opening that allows the light to shine through
- It is where we embrace being both human and divine

Chiron's Role in the Aries New Moon

The Wise Centaur Guiding You To A New Story Around Your Sense of Self

A Dagger and a Poem

Ayla Nereo

A Dagger and a Poem - Ayla Nereo

Piper you've a song to sing and will you sing today
I'm feelin like a wildfire, will you guide my way rushing through the underbrush until I see my next turn cover me in roses, set a course for wind-borne tip a glass for temperance, dip me in red wine
I've a dagger and a poem at my side

A Dagger and a Poem - Ayla Nereo

Piper called, "you lead yourself by coming you undone
the veils upon your eyelids, the dragons on your tongue listen close, you'll know them by the hawthorn and the moonbeam give a bit o' ribbon round and leave it as an offering hear the rounds of lovers calling "dance us with a kiss so in parting here the love we never miss"

A Dagger and a Poem - Ayla Nereo

Bellow for the eyes to see a brightness to what's known

Bellow for the lungs to breathe and find their way back home

Bellow for the undertow, teach me through the falling show me every fear till I can dance with them till morning

Bellow for to summon every heart and set it free

A Dagger and a Poem - Ayla Nereo

Piper you've an opening to do what you must do the dams are bound for breaking so you let the river move though there are a'twists and turns the storm will see you through

if you keep your compass aimed by your own roots
