

Okay, I am seeing all of you begin to pop up. Kathy, how do you do that? That's magic. Hello. Hello, friends. Welcome to the solstice ceremony. Were you. Oh, civil. Yay. You made it. Fantastic. Were you all hearing the music before you came on? When you were in the waiting room? It was really setting the tone. Zoom has it. So you have to actually press unmute. So you probably don't see that.

You probably don't realize that there's music playing. But there was. Okay, let's see. Just saying hello to all of you as you come in. Please introduce yourself in the chat and we're going to go ahead and get started. So taking a deep breath and allowing yourself to fully land here. And now we're just a little bit after the solstice. We're still in that energy. So just settling in, taking a deep breath.

The breeze at dawn has secrets to tell you. Don't go back to sleep. You must, you must ask for what you really want. Don't go back to sleep. People are going back and forth across the door sill where the two worlds touch. The door is round and open. Don't go back to sleep. Most of you probably recognize that poem by Rumi. So welcoming, all of you, officially. Some of you I haven't seen since the Aries equinox challenge that we did.

Some of you I see every month in the inner circle. And some of you might be here for the first time. If that's you, please definitely say hello in the chat. Actually, all of you can say hello in the chat. It's always so great to feel you and just connect that way. No matter where and when your orbit is crossing with ours, we are so happy that you're here.

So just kind of giving some context to what it is we're doing. We love to gather at these anchor points in the year because it is so easy to go back, back to sleep, to forget what it is that you really want to forget. To ask for what it is that you really want. To let the expectations, the demands, the realities of our daily life crowd the deepest desires and intentions that we hold in our hearts.

But as a community, these are our moments in time where we can come together and remember. So even if we do go back to sleep in moments, which all of us do, we do get to come together at these equinoxes and these solstice points in the year and remember, remember the deeper desires, pause and reflect and truly become star gardeners. More on that later. So here we are, the Cancer solstice and I know it's not just me.

I have felt this acceleration of time that has been kind of mind blowing, honestly. And it feels like we were just at the Aries equinox. It feels like I just finished my treasure map. I know many of you can relate with this, right? And I know that it's actually happening when my 14 and 17 year old daughters are saying the same thing. You know, I. I could say, oh, well, it's just because I'm getting older.

And everyone always says the time gets faster when you're getting older. But also my teenage daughters are saying the same thing. It truly is a sign of this astrological moment that we're in as all of the outer planets are moving into fire and air. This is fast, this is kinetic, this is electric kinds of energy. And it. I don't know about all of you, but I really, really, really feel it.

So we knew this would happen. And why does this matter? It matters because days quickly morph into weeks, weeks quickly morph into months and into years and eventually into the story of our life, the span of our life. So while it is very easy to go back to sleep, it is also very important to stay awake as much as we can. And I know that you are here at this ceremony right now because you care, because you yearn to fulfill your mission in this lifetime.

You are here because you crave to. You crave the remembrance, the remembrance of who you are, the remembrance of why you're here, the remembrance of what you're doing. Even though every day we have a long list of things we're doing, what are we really doing? I also like to think that any of you who show up for these seasonal community gatherings here at Astrology Hub, that you crave to feel a deep connection to yourself and this global community, this global community of like hearted souls.

And that is exactly who we are. We are, we are connected via our love of the stars. And most importantly, we're connected via our love for life. This desire to live the life that we came here to live, that is reflected in the birth chart, that is reiterated by all of the magic and synchronicity all around us all the time. So let's do this. Let's tune back into what it is that you, you, each and every single one of you, really want the essence of who you really are and get back into alignment.

Wherever you veered a little bit off course, wherever you have gone to sleep, wherever you have forgotten what it is that you really want. Let's take this time in Space at this cancer solstice to tune back in. So before we do a little bit of a grounding together, and then you're going to have some quiet time with yourself. If you did the Aries equinox challenge with us and you made a treasure map, you're going to have time to revisit the treasure map and really look at what has been sprouting, what, what isn't, and really have some time to reflect on that.

If you didn't make a treasure map with us, that is perfectly okay. First of all, mark your calendar for next year, because we do it every year. But second of all, it's okay, you know, when you get quiet, what it is in your heart, so you can just tune back into that. So reminding you of where we've been in December, some of you, I know, not all of you, but some of you joined our solstice journey in December, where we set intentions using the qualities of the 12 zodiac signs as our guide.

So we consolidated the 12 months of the year into 12 days. We walked through the archetypal energy of every zodiac sign. And we set intentions based on the. It's debatable. You can't really call it the highest qualities, but some of the most high qualities of each of the zodiac signs. We set intentions around those things so that that intention set the stage for the entire calendar year. Now, the astrological year starts at the Aries equinox.

So we set those intentions to really create a foundation for the rest of the of the calendar year. But then we tuned back in at the Aries equinox to harness that initiatory energy of Aries, the fiery, focused, go get them kind of energy of Aries. And also the beginning of the new year, the beginning of the astrology new year, or the natural new year, you could call it.

So what did we do? We cleared our space to make room for the new. We moved our bodies in lots of different ways, whichever way people wanted to do to add heat and fire and energy into our bodies. We made. Oh, gosh, what are they called right now? Compost boards. We composted the things that we're ready to let go of. And some people burned them and used the ashes to be a symbol of the phoenix rising from the ashes, taking the old, letting it be the fertile soil, let it become the fertile soil for the new.

And we regulated our nervous systems in a couple different ways so that we were creating from a place of peace, a place of calm, a piece of clarity, not from a fight or flight kind of place. And then this whole event, which lasted like six weeks, culminated in the creation of our treasure maps. So the treasure map is basically a vision board that is astrologically timed. And so we made those treasure maps and this cancer solstice is the time to really, really tune in to those seeds that were planted at the this Aries season that we just went through.

So set intentions, create our visions, and really make those into a manifest form through the treasure maps. And now we're coming to together at the solstice. So, solstice, the sun stands still. We're going to go quiet, we're going to go within, we're going to tune back in. Where are you on track? Where do you feel like you're a little bit off track again? Where have you gone? Back to sleep.

Okay, so I just want to tune in with all of you. Yay. Oh, my gosh, so many. Just so you know, one of my closing rituals for any event that we do is to read the chat. So I go back in, I read all of your comments, and I, I. This is my opportunity to really feel the group in a way that's hard to do while we're actually in it.

So anything that you write in there, anything that you share, it's going to be read by me and my team and also everybody else who's here. So thank you for all of the energy and the participation in the chat. All right, so now we're going to do something we do in the inner circle. Every lunar cycle, we're going to go within, and I'm going to lead you in a grounding.

So if you are in a place where you can close your eyes, just get comfortable and really bring your attention and your awareness into your heart. This place where the sun lives within you, This place where light is emanating from you. If you want, you can even place your hands on your heart, just feeling this area, although we know it extends out far beyond our physical bodies, but just symbolically placing those hands right at your heart and beginning this grounding with gratitude, with gratitude for the natural anchors in time and space that the solstice and the equinox create for us.

Four quarters, four points, hinge points where one door closes and another door opens, marking that door that is round and open that we can pass in and out of, Marking a threshold from one season to another, marking the chapters of our lives, Just giving thanks for the beauty and the magic of that. Remembering that the word cosmos means order and beauty, reflecting on the order and the beauty of these Four points in space and time.

These four points that are so important that cultures for thousands of years have created structures that track the movement of the sun through these points that harness the light of the sun at these exact moments in time. Why would they go to such great lengths to create these structures? Taking a deep breath, And what I'd love to invite you to do now is imagine that the seeds of intention that were planted in December, the seeds of your dreams and your visions that you planted in April, imagine those as tiny stars, tiny seeds of light that you planted in a garden.

We know that the word desire de cidere means of the stars. So truly your desires, your visions, they truly are starlight. So just imagine those little baby seeds planted in the soil of this garden, this garden that is your life. They've been incubating in the darkness, shining their little light. You perhaps have been gardening them, Watering them, maybe even sometimes with your tears, Shining light on them just like the sun does for us every single day.

The light of your awareness just keeping them softly in your consciousness, that is shining light on those little baby seeds, those little baby stars. Perhaps you've been fertilizing them with love, with care, with intention, with action. And every time you have stopped and paused and taken, taken a deep breath, every time we come together in ceremony, and you do that here with this community, every time you do that on your own when you're in your meditation or driving in traffic, and remember to pause and just take a deep breath every time you move your body and you oxygenate your body, your blood, your cells, you are oxygenating those cells, those stars that you planted in the soil.

Now noticing your garden, maybe as you survey this garden of light that you have planted, perhaps you are starting to see some sprouts. Maybe you're seeing some of those little baby stars peek their head above the soil and begin to see the light of day, begin to be bathed by the starlight at night. Maybe some of the things that you wanted to see and experience in your life are actually beginning to pique their head into your existence in form and manifest form in physical reality in Saturn's domain.

Maybe some are still deep underground, just incubating, pulsing with light, feeling your love, feeling your care, feeling your intention, just waiting for the right time. That built in intelligence completely within that little seed star. So we don't have to worry, we don't have to rush, we don't have to push and we can continue to fertilize. Shine the light of awareness, send love, send care, believe that it's possible believe that we will see the manifestation of that dream or that vision in the right time.

Perhaps you survey your garden and you see that some of your little starseeds are struggling. Maybe some need more oxygen. Maybe some need more light. Maybe some need more water. Maybe some have actually started to be encroached upon by negative thoughts, by limiting beliefs, by old stories, old patterns, old roles. Maybe you're seeing that some of them have been encroached upon by weeds, things that are just blocking the light, taking the water.

Maybe these are all the things you've said yes to that aren't quite aligned with who you are or where you're going. Maybe you've said yes because you want to be nice, you want to be liked, and you want to keep the peace. But maybe now what those little star seeds really need is, is kindness, truth, integrity, alignment. And so maybe in this time at the cancer solstice, you are going to make a commitment.

You're going to recommit to those little starseeds and you're going to recommit to focusing on them and giving them what they need and eliminating the weeds, just taking them out gently. At some point, those weeds might have made sense in your life, but right now they just don't. So with discernment, canvassing your life, canvassing this garden, No judgment, just observation. So we have different things happening in this little garden.

And if we think about the fact that if the Aries equinox is the beginning of the astrological year, of the zodiacal year, the natural year, then the Cancer solstice is the equivalent of the quarter moon. So it's the quarter, it's the first quarter. And many astrologers call the first quarter the. The crisis point. So you really may be noticing things coming up in your life that appear to be obstacles to this garden.

But in the time that you have with yourself, I invite you to consider if some of those obstacles may just be showing up, to be released, to be purified. Maybe they're showing up because they're karmic knots. They're places where there's some unraveling that needs to be done. There's some massaging of a point in your life that is ready to be dissolved so that the visions and the dreams that you hold can actually see the light of day.

So in the next 10 minutes, with yourself, with your journal, with your treasure map, Doing your best to tune in deeply to what it is you really want, what are those deep, deep soul level desires, where have you maybe Gone back to sleep. Where have you allowed external forces to crowd this garden of yours? And what can you commit to moving forward so you can continue to nourish these dreams, nourish these visions, and truly be a steward of the mission that you came here to live, Taking time with yourself now to consider all of this.

And then after, we'll take a few shares. Sa. I did mention that time is going fast. That ten minutes felt like two minutes. Ah, okay. Well, so what I would love to do now is invite. We're going to take about five shares. If there are five people that want to share any reflections that they have, maybe share some things that are sprouting on your treasure map, maybe some realizations you had about your garden and how you could be nourishing it a little better.

I love some of the comments that have come I love all the comments that have come in and I loved comments that were talking specifically about where you're seeing your gardening might need a little more attention. And it doesn't have to be a big deal. It doesn't have to be complicated. Attention and awareness have huge impact. Right. And action. Doing something about it. Right. Those things together. I wanted to just share a couple things from my map to kick us off.

So have it right here with me. I don't know if you can see. Can you see, Can you see the thing in the middle that looks like the COVID of my book? Could you see that? Yes. Okay. Okay. And also look at you guys. What I did on the back is I put the thing we did with Colette Baron Reed. So I actually did that first and then I turned it around and made my map on the other side.

So that image in the middle of like an iteration of the book I put into ChatGPT. Can you give me a symbolic image of life by the stars reaching all corners of the globe? And that's the image that I got. And I went, oh my God, that's amazing. And so we have had at this point at the cancer solstice. So for the the first quarter, 26 countries have someone in 26 different countries have bought the book from all over the world.

I didn't know this, but there's 195 countries. Did you guys know that? I mean, it's a little debatable. There's some, there's some that aren't as obvious, but I love that. Like that to me feels like a sprout. So there's sprouts from Canada, Australia, the uk, New Zealand, Germany, Netherlands, France, Mexico, Norway, Belgium, Spain, Singapore, South Africa, United Arab Emirates, Brazil, Estonia, Finland, Greece, Ireland, Italy, Serbia, Sweden, Slovenia, Japan and India.

And maybe some of you are from those places. And thank you. You are the manifestation of that seed of light that I planted in the ground. There's other things I'm seeing on my map where it has seemed like the little seed is like struggling. It's needing a lot of pressure and heat in order for it to pop its little head over the soil. But I can see that process, that's that first quarter process of crisis, right?

Where that's necessary. It's actually a necessary moment for it to come above the soil, right? Like diamonds need heat and pressure to be made. Sometimes our little seeds are like that. Okay, let's go to Renee. Hi, Renee. If you do want to share, you can just go to react and put the little hand up because if you just raise your hand, I might not be able to see you.

But if you go to react and you put the raise hand, then I'll be able to see. But Renee, let's start with you. So the, the seeds that are, are coming to fruition for me now were planted in a dream during my first Saturn return in 1987. And everybody was going, talking about the, her convergence and stuff like that. And the dream had to do with, with not understanding what was, what was happening with, with the goddesses and on the Earth and the, and the women being trapped and yet being released.

And there was this dream of, of flying to this, to this tree where we were golden and as those that were pursuing us could not see us anymore and they moved on. And since then I, you know, been studied the Gospel of Mary Magdalene and the Gospel of the Beloved companion, where there is a, a tree in that. Where there are very human things that, that we all deal with here on the earth at this time, that we are slowly, carefully, quickly, quickly and slowly being released from like darkness and clinging and, and ignorance and forgetting.

And then as we move through and see each one of those as an opening, as we really see it as an opening, then it's like this is, this is like my vision of the, the love that takes over, the love within, the wisdom that comes through the, the recognition of where I've been ignorant, the humility, and where I've been spiritually smug and, you know, so all of these, all of these ways of coming more and more into the grace that is in my chart in the ninth harmonic, as Rick Levine taught us a couple years back, and all of these, all of these things I had a vision in 2022 of Mary Magdalene and Mother Mary planting a white tree right by my third house.

And I see Stonehenge in all of its blocks as the zodiacal wheel. And so. And I had an idea and started writing a play. And then it just did not. I was doing other things that didn't take off. And now I am writing that play with the Mary's, about the Mary's every single day. And it is. It is being built, and it is being built. And with this tree and all of these women whose.

Whose voice who were never fully expressed are. I'm able to give expression to just because I just connect with them every day. Oh, my gosh. Renee, thank you for sharing this. There's. There's several things that really jump out to me about what you just shared. Number one, you have been holding this dream since 1987. That's almost 40 years. The thing that strikes me about that is that that seed that was planted in you almost 40 years ago needed all of the fertilization, all of the experience, all of the attention and awareness, and all the things that you gave it to be at this point where this can be flowing through you like this is channeling through you now.

This is the time. And I've been thinking about this a lot. Like, sometimes we get visions, and they're very clear. And the first thought is, okay, I'm going to do it. Right. Right. But it's not always that we're meant to do it right away. And that is where we're trusting the divine timing. That is where we're trusting life to lead us in the perfect timing. And so even the things that we planted at the Aries equinox, the idea when we do that is it's going to be about a year before certain things manifest.

But I shared, even at the Aries equinox, that I planted the seeds for the book three years ago on my. My treasure map three years ago. And I thought it was going to be a year, and it was three years, but that was perfect, you know, so just. Just reminding all of us, because I think that it can be. We can get discouraged of, like, you know, is this ever going to happen?

But look, here you are 40 years later writing the play. It's coming through you every single day. Probably feels somewhat effortless, I'm guessing, and very joyful. Yeah. Yes, yes, yes. And then it's gonna be a thing. It's gonna be a real thing that is tangible here on this planet. And. Wow. It's just so cool, Renee. Thank you. And I. I do. I think. I. When I think about the.

The timing of this, what you're talking about, coming into the world, it seems absolutely perfect. Like, a few years ago would have been too early, and a few decades ago would have really been too early. But now. Really too early. But now, like, yes, it's ripe. People are ready for this conversation, so. Yay. Thank you for sharing. Thank you. Yeah. Sybil. Hello, my friend. Let's make sure you get unmuted so we can hear your beautiful voice.

There we are. There you are. Yes, there I am. I can feel that crisis in action totally right now in this moment of time. So I did what I do, and you wrote us a poem. I wrote something, yes. And it's. At the turning of the year, when light lingers longest, we gather in the golden threshold between what is bloomed, what has bloomed and what is yet becoming.

The season of the sun. Beneath its gaze, shadows soften, hidden paths reveal themselves. And the soul remembers its light while the sun is shining on ancient stones and fields filled with possibilities Stewardship of what I really want. I want to remember the place where I belong. I want to remember the future, the step to take the path to choose the love to share. And in this cancer light and the emotions flying high I want to remember my name.

The crisis in action reminds us that it's all right there and there is nothing to fix because it is perfect as it is. And you, Amanda, started with the end of my favorite poem so that I can go back to the beginning of its wonderful place of oneness and unity. The perfect place for me. And this now is out. Beyond ideas of wrongdoing and right doing. There is a field.

I'll meet you there. When the soul lies down in that grass the world is too full to talk about. Ideas, language, even the phrase each other doesn't make any sense. I have chills all over my body, Sybil. And with that, I'd love to bring us full circle. The breeze at dawn has secrets to tell you. Don't go back to sleep. You must ask for what you really want.

Don't go back to sleep. People are going back and forth across the door sill where the two worlds touch. The door is round and open. Don't go back to sleep. Okay, my friends, we are going. Yes. There's also Heidi with her hand raised. Her camera's just off. You can't see her. I don't even see someone with their hand raised. Well, Heidi, wherever you are, you're welcome to share, Okay?

It might have been a mistake. Sorry, it took me a minute. Hey. Hi. I closed out your last thing. All right. Well, I took the treasure map to some other thing. I'm still working on it today. It's insane. So I was the one who. Who kind of got Hekate as my person this last. Well, whenever. But anyway, I made this thing. It's. It's like a. A globe stand.

Yes. And then the thing goes around like that. Oh, yeah. That's so cool. It just took me forever to figure. It took me like a month to figure out, like, what. How am I going to make that happen? I don't know. So. So I'm still, you know, on some kind of divine timing that isn't. Isn't lined up with other people. So it just became. It became a whole new thing.

Whole new whole thing. That's so cool. I love the innovation. Yeah, it's. It's been really fun. Yes. And, you know, that's the thing about this time that we're in. It is about doing things differently. It is about really escaping the box that we've been in and approaching life with a new perspective and new eyes and new newness. So I love that you did that with your treasure map.

And I know many of you very artistic people did things that were super cool with your maps this year. Thank you. Yeah, it's been. It's been great. I'm so, so happy I found you guys. Oh, same here, Heidi. Thank you for sharing. Okay, and one more. Is that Daisy? Am I saying that right? Yes. Hello. It's Daisy. Hi, Daisy. I didn't know what to expect. This was interesting.

Thank you, everybody. The only thing I wanted to share was now this. As I've been kind of dabbling with trying to learn about astrology more than just my horoscope. I've been working on this thing now. I guess you guys are helping me figure out what the heck it is. Well, let me see how to turn this around. I think it's one of your treasure maps. Oh, wow. Yeah, I gotta learn how to turn this around.

I lost you on my screen. You're somewhere. But yes. I mean, that is the thing too, is sometimes we just start the process and we don't even know what we're creating. And we let the process lead us. Right? Yeah. I crocheted 30 stitches and I'm pinning it on a felt board. And it started because Steve says you can't really do astrology if you haven't made your own old fashioned stuff.

Well, I tried and I can't do that. But I can start brand new just between me, God, the universe. So that's what I'm doing. I'm looking at more than my sun sign because I Covid laying on the ground and just found out about why I was so sick. I forgot to smoke after almost 50 years. And that got me to what in the hell? How do you forget to smoke?

And it happened several times. I was also all alone, getting my house clean and very bored. I thought, I Wonder if this YouTube thing has any horoscope check. So I looked, I found astrology. And I found several of you older, wiser, long time under your belt. Astrology, people talking about Pluto and about a bunch of stuff going. All this Covid and the shutdown and all these weird things.

And you did talk about several of you. Pluto was going to do some transit or something that was really good for anybody that wanted to quit any kind of addiction. And people that had been seriously addicted needed to be careful because Pluto don't like things that hurt the majority. And so things could get actually pretty bad trying to slap us in line. And. And I've got family that is out there on drugs.

So that scared me. But I thought, is that why I'm forgetting to smoke? So I thought, okay, I'm gonna make a quit smoking date lined up with their Pluto date. And if I quit smoking, I'm gonna have to take this astrology stuff a little more serious. And that's what I did. It's only the fourth time I've tried to quit in all these years because it's so impossible. Yeah, I'm a non smoker.

Oh, my gosh. It wasn't a piece of cake, but it was possible. Yes. I have had some hard stuff. We all do. And I cheated. And I didn't go back full bore. Amazing. I got so scared, I just quit again immediately. Oh, my God, Daisy, that is so, so amazing. So I'm keeping my promise. I'm taking astrology a little more serious, trying to learn about birth charts. And so I'm a very new, brand new beginner.

Thank you all. I accidentally been making some kind of a chart. You guys are going to help me learn. Thank you. Oh, Daisy. Wow. Well, welcome here. And that is the coolest story ever. And Pluto is no joke. Like, I'm so glad that you took that transit. I don't even remember which one it was, but obviously it was a powerful one. And you used it for something you wanted to accomplish in your life.

And that is what we're doing at the solstice in the equinox, we're just using nature's scaffolding, nature's infrastructure to help us stay awake, to help us remember who we are, to help us remember what it is that we really came here to do and to just keep showing up, keep showing up every single day as much as possible. So thank you, Daisy. That's such a fantastic story. And you're going to learn so much.

Like, now that you're stumbling down the rabbit hole, you're like Alice in Alice in Wonderland, and you're just. You're going to be like, what? How was this here the whole time? I didn't even know it. So I'm excited for you. Astrology truly is the gift that keeps on giving. Like, the deeper you go, the more it gives, the more. The more you get to experience the multifaceted element of the universe, but most importantly, yourself.

So I'm just stoked for you, Daisy. It's so cool. Thank you for sharing. Thank you, everybody, for sharing. Thank you for all of your beautiful comments in the chat. Thank you for celebrating these pillars with us, these anchor points, these hinge points, as Rick Levine has called them. Thank you for taking the time and energy to make space for yourself, to be quiet, to be still, to listen, to tune into this, the energy of this collective group, which is never the same twice, ever, because different people show up and different things happen and different shares happen.

And we're tuning into the energetic current of this exact moment in time, which will never happen again. And that's true of every moment that we live. And the more aware we are, the more we get to experience the magic of that, the magic of that truth. So you all are amazing. You take my breath away. I love in the quiet time, just looking at your faces on the screen and just feeling your heart energy and how much you pour into showing up for yourself and showing up for this life.

Thank you. If all of the entire globe did that, can you imagine how different this world would be, really? Like, we would be in a very different place, very different reality. All right? Same place, different experience of it. So we're going to end with a song. As we do at all of our inner Circle

New Moon ceremonies, we love to integrate music into what we do because as some of you were saying in the chat, in the quiet time, it evokes, it speaks to us at a soul level.

There's something that it transcends beyond the words. And so music is a huge part of everything we do at astrology. Hub and even the inner circle astrologers choose music that's perfect for the energy of the lunar cycle that we're going to be traveling upon. So this song is called Follow the Sun and it's by Xavier Rudd. And we chose it because obviously the solstices and the equinoxes are points in our year that are dictated by the sun.

So obviously there's lunar cycle, there's solar cycle. Every planet has its orbital cycle, but the solstices and the equinoxes are marked by the apparent journey the sun from our perspective. And so this is a beautiful song. I hope that these songs that we share at these events that we do where we gather together for solstice and equinox can also be like talismans for you can also serve as an anchor point to help you tune back into this energy for yourself whenever you need it.

If you feel like you've gone back to sleep, you can put this song on and you can remember the collective moment that we shared. And maybe that will be the way that you water your star garden. Maybe that will be the way that you energize your star garden. You'll just tune back into this song. That's one idea. There's lots of different ways to do it. Maybe you'll look at your journal, maybe you'll look at your treasure map.

Maybe you'll remember a story that was shared. Maybe you'll tune back into the replay of this. But there's so many different ways that we can stay awake. And just know that we at Astrology Hub will be here for you at the equinox as well. We'll be right back inviting you to a community gathering. I'm already working on it. I cannot wait to share it with you. And then we'll be back together in December for the solstice again.

And then we'll be back together and we'll spiral through time together. And every time we come together, you are going to be a new version of yourself. Okay, I hope you all are joining us for the panel event on Wednesday. So this is going to be the second part of this solstice celebration. Is going to be the panel. We wanted to tune in first internally and then we'll turn our attention to the last half of the year, the astrology of the last half of the year.

And as you listen to this panel, I invite you to be thinking about how can I harness these energies, how can I use my awareness of the upcoming astrological energies to nourish my star garden, to select opportune moments to fertilize it, to take action on it, to oxygen, oxygenate it, to water it. How can I use the cosmic tides, the energies of the universe themselves, and weave them through my life so that my star garden will eventually blossom and it's full radiance, which it will, by the way.

And we get to participate. It's a co creation. It's a collaboration. All right, so that was a long preamble to this song. There's some visuals, the words are on the screen. So just sit back, relax and enjoy. Sam. Follow, follow the sun, which way the wind blows? When this day is done.

Breath, breathe in the air. Set your intention, Dream with care. Tomorrow's a new day to everyone.

Brand new moon and brand new sun. So follow, follow the sun the direction of the birds, direction of love Be breath, breathe in the air Cherish a small month, Cherish this breath. Tomorrow's a new day for everyone. Brand new moon, brand new sun. When you feel love coming down on you like a heavy weight. When you feel this crazy society adding to the strain, Take a stroll to the nearest water.

Remember your place. Many moons have risen and fallen long, long before you came. So which way is the wind blowing? What does your heart say? Sam. Follow the sun in which way the wind blows when this day is done. Just as the sun has its own orbit, every planet has its own orbit. You also have your own orbit. Thank you for crossing your orbital path with ours. Thank you for being a part of this community.

Thank you for making astrology a part of the way that you spiral through life. We are so, so, so happy that you're here. Cannot wait to see you on Wednesday. Of course we'll see you again at the equinox. If you're an Inner Circle member, we'll see you at the next lunar cycle event. And in the meantime, take this energy with you. Bring it out into the world, share it with the people in your life.

And please unmute and say goodbye. So we'll say ahui hou for now. Take care everybody. Bye so bye. Much love to everyone. Bye bye. Thank you. Peace and love everybody. Take care everyone. Much love.
